The Alchemy ballpoint from SHAW PENS features M3 mokume gane barrels. Not to be confused with traditional mokume gane, the M3 metals nevertheless imitate the look of the traditional product. Available in red and black and gunsmoke and gold as shown; also in blue and red, blue and silver and Damascus steel, with more to come this year. Matching fountain pen and rollerball are planned for mid-year. Available at Bertram's Inkwell.

MSRP: $130

First the Staccato, and now the Legato from TACCIA BY TOYA. A bit smaller than the Staccato, the Legato nevertheless maintains the same profile with beveled crowns and curves. Available in fountain pen and rollerball, the pens come in arctic swirl, burgundy coral and tropical breeze.

MSRP: $79-99

This Cigar Illusion pen looks as much like the real thing as any we've seen. The body of this one is made of Hawaiian koa, and the "ash" on the end is buckeye burl. Pens are sold without labels so the buyer can select and add a favorite. Pens are packaged in small travel humidors. Several models available; made by artisan penmaker Martin Osborn.

MSRP: $190-300
